I would like to have a different font colour for each class in the index page of a website. For example, if the class was "title-black" then the label for the h2 tag would change colour, if it was "title-red" the h1 tag would change colour, etc. Is there an easy way to do this? Here is an example of what I would like to do: Any help would be greatly appreciated! A: You will need to use a CSS class for this. CSS: .title-black{color: #000; } .title-red{color: #FF0000; } HTML: Article 1 Article 2 See an example here: If your html is stored in a variable and the class is dynamically determined, you can add extra tags to your stylesheet: .header-class{} .content-class{}

And then use a loop to detect the correct class:
$(".header-class").each(function(){
