Sports, the best around!
Search all your favorite teams and sports all in one place.
Designing & Building the ESPN Search Yahoo! widget was a challenge. While Yahoo! Search does a good job of ranking sites in general, I found it difficult to rank websites that were best suited to my business. ESPN Search aims to overcome these limitations by displaying all ESPN websites in the result set. ESPN Search Yahoo! widget Getting Started Log In or Register: You can log in by clicking the button "Enter Your Username and Password" on the ESPN Search Yahoo! home page. The widget will automatically log you into the ESPN Yahoo!

service. If you do not have an account, you can register with the ESPN Search Yahoo! widget by clicking the button "Create an Account"  If you want to continue to log into your existing ESPN account, you must use the same account you used when creating your ESPN Search Yahoo! widget Click to Log in:  If you are logged in to your ESPN account, the widget will display the ESPN home page and "Home" link on the top left. This will take you back to your ESPN home page. Click to "Home" link: 10. • If you have logged in to your ESPN account, you will see the ESPN home page with the ESPN Search Yahoo! widget in the upper left. • If you are logged out, you will see a screen that says "Welcome to the ESPN Yahoo! widget." Click to the "Create a Team" link in the upper left. Click to create a Team: [?] You will be asked to select one of your teams. Once you have selected a team, click to the button "Create Team." Create a Team:  The widget will display a list of your teams. Your teams are the websites you have created using the ESPN Search Yahoo! widget.

11. To edit your teams, select the team you wish to edit and click the "Edit Team" link. You will be taken to your team's edit page. The following is a basic example of an ESPN Search Yahoo! widget team. 12. In your team's edit page, you will see two tables: "Teams" and

"Web Sites." Teams and websites are separated into two tables. Teams and

This widget will display the most recent ESPN Search results with links to full-length ESPN Search video results and game stats. The ESPN Search Yahoo! widget enables you to find all the sports information you need right from your desktop. For more information, click on the following link: Here is the video of me doing a little bit of search engine optimization for my local search. You will see a drop down menu appear to switch between different engines. I tried the "Yahoo!", Google, Ask.com, and "Ask" engines. Check it out. I really hate doing a search on the Yahoo! engine, it always shows my results as a static frame that I have to resize to see all the videos. Comments: I want your feedback. I had a search on all possible results for "London Olympics 2008" but I got only one site as result. I was looking for good sources to learn and create my own results. From this video you can learn that you can only use news site and from that you can build yourself your own data. This is really cool idea. Facebook.com/JonMeeks

This module allows you to easily create special search results with the Yahoo! search engine. It creates pages with the special Yahoo! search results. You can control the content of each result, as well as the image of the result. The content of each result is stored in a template, that is chosen at the time of installation. You can also use other content blocks, in addition to the default content blocks, that are listed with the module. The module also allows you to create pages with many search results without having to create separate pages for each result.
