I have a variable: $var = '0'; In a class called User, I have a function that returns a value: class User { function __construct() { return $this->doSomething($var); } } The function doSomething() will return a value, depending on the value of $var. If $var = '1', the value should be returned, else it should be returned, if $var = '0'. How should I do that? A: Why do you have to change your code? If you know that some var is 0 or 1 you can use a switch statement class User { public function doSomething() { switch ($this->var) { case 0: return 1; case 1: return 0; } } } StarCrossed (The Osbourne and Carlson Series) I received this book free from Ashford Publishing for review. I was not obligated to post a positive review and all opinions expressed are my own. I liked the first book, I'm not sure I would call it Starcrossed but I think it certainly brought a lot to the table.
